

There is already too much concentration of media ownership. Allowing even more cross-ownership within markets would remove the few solitary independent voices available to the public. Between the likes of Clear Channel Communications and Rupert Murdoch- and worse - the public interest in a diverse media will be harmed. Democracy will suffer. Thank you.